“Cyber Threat: The FBI’s Silent Battle Against Online Criminals, Terrorists and Spies”

Please join us as we welcome Darren J. Mott, Supervisory Special Agent (SSA) of the Cyber Crime Squad of the Cleveland Division of the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI).

Mr. Mott will discuss the cyber threat faced by businesses and individuals in the Greater Cleveland Area (that’s you and me) and what’s being done about it. From your child’s home computer, to your office computer system, to the most sensitive government networks – no one is immune to online hackers, thieves and scam artists.

You won’t want to miss this exciting presentation to learn what you can do to help avoid the ongoing battle of cyber threat.

SSA Mott has been an FBI Special Agent since 1999 and has been involved in Cyber Investigations since that time. He was promoted to FBI Headquarters in 2007 and headed up the Cyber Division’s Russian and Eurasian Organized Cyber Crime Initiative prior to being promoted to Supervisor in the Cleveland Division in February, 2009. SSA Mott holds a Bachelor’s and Master’s Degree from the State University of New York at Potsdam.
